VOTE UNANIMOUS Government by Consent of Governed, Principle for New Parley

LONDON.—The British government's peace proposal was laid before the Irish parliament, which rejected the offer unanimously, but is willing to negotiate on the principle of government by consent of the governed. It is dangerous to prolong the negotiations, the Irish parliament declared, but it will make every allowance, he cannot, he declared, prolong the mere exchange of notes, but says, he will be happy to meet Mr. De Valera and his colleagues again.

UNION OFFICERS TURN BACK MOB ON WAY TO MINES

ADVANCE GUARD STOPS WHEN MET BY TWO OFFICIALS.

TROOPS READY Would be Suicide to Continue, Men are Told; Regulars Await Call.

Madison, W. Va.—The advance guard of the marching miners on their way from Mingo to Mingo as a protest against Governor Mingo's martial law, was turned back by Charles E. Keeney, president of the district number 17, United Mine Workers, and Fred Moore, secretary, after it had passed through Madison, shortly after noon Friday. The men, numbering some 200 or 300, had camped in a hollow near the town and were on their way toward the Logan county line. Keeney and Moore, who left Charleston early Friday with the advance guard, stopped the march, ordered Madison within a half hour after the men left. After a brief conference with county officials they had the men disarmed, and, overruling the party, induced it to march back to Madison.

The men camped in the court house yard and Keeney said he was arranging to address them. "The men have come a long distance and are not feeling very good about this situation," said Keeney. "I shall do all in my power to turn them back and, just as soon as the rest of the men come in from the hollows, I'll talk to them. It is no easy job."

"I never saw so many men on the march before. From Boone to Madison Friday morning the road has been crowded with men. There are about 2,000 ex-service men among them."

Secretary Moore said: "It would be suicide for the men to advance. General Dargatzidis seems to command the state. He summoned us—Keeney and me—at 1 o'clock Friday morning and, a short time later, we left Charleston to stop the men."

Mr. Keeney, commenting on the march, said he had heard reports of depredations by the men along the route.

Erzberger Slain in Black Forest; Body Is Riddled

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin.—Mathias Erzberger, former vice premier and minister of finance, was assassinated near Offenbach, Baden, Friday, where he was journeying with his family.

Herr Erzberger had left Bad-Griesbach, where he was taking the cure, in company with the reichstag deputy, Diez, for a foot tour of the Black Forest. An hour later both men were confronted by two youths, who separated them and then emptied revolvers into Herr Erzberger's body. He was killed instantly by shots in the head. Deputy Diez also was wounded.

Herr Erzberger's body contained 12 bullet wounds.

Tried to Kill Him Once Before

An attempt was made in January 1920, to assassinate Herr Erzberger, as he was leaving the criminal court building in Berlin after attending a hearing in a libel suit he had brought against Dr. Karl Helfferich, the former German vice premier. His assassin gave his name as Oltwig von Hirschfeld, a former cadet officer, 26 years old, a student, and son of a Berlin bank official. Von Hirschfeld was arrested and sentenced to 10 years in prison. He was quoted as saying he considered Erzberger dangerous to the empire. The assassin fired two shots at Erzberger as the minister was entering his automobile.

Blamed for Collapse. Erzberger roused a storm in Germany in July, 1917, more than a year before the armistice, by proposing a resolution in the German Reichstag in favor of a peace without annexations and for parliamentary reform. Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg declared this formula was unacceptable and Dr. Helfferich subsequently blamed Erzberger's peace proposal for the moral collapse of the German people in January, 1918, and the name of the U-boat war had failed and advocated its abandonment. Some time prior to the armistice he published a book in which he outlined a plan for a league of nations.

Erzberger was elected member of the national assembly from Wurtemberg in January, 1919, and in June became Vice-Premier and Minister of Finance.

FULL RIGHTS OF VERSAILLES PACT GRANTED TO U. S.

TREATY WITH GERMANY CONSIDERED COMPLETE SETTLEMENT.

FREE OF LEAGUE America "Shakes" Political Alignments With European Nations.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington.—Full title to "all the rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages" specified for the United States, under the unratified treaty of Versailles, is reaffirmed in the separate treaty with Germany, signed Thursday at Berlin.

Both by blanket declaration and specific enumeration the treaty recognizes the claim of the American government to these benefits and at the same time disavows on the part of the United States any responsibility for provisions of the League of Nations, the Shantung settlement or the political realignments of Europe.

By state department officials the treaty is considered a full settlement.

The full text of the treaty will be found on page 9 of this issue.

making possible not only a resumption of diplomatic relations but a large measure of commercial intercourse as well as the resumption of the economic and financial concessions of the pact of Versailles.

Seek Ratification. There was every indication Friday that efforts would be made by the administration to secure senate ratification.

SOUTHERN BANKER
TALKS OF COTTON

B. W. Griffith of Vicksburg
Says Debts Are Being Paid Now.

From the city so closely and intimately connected with the history of the Civil War, Benjamin Whitfield Griffith, president of the First National Bank of Vicksburg, Miss., for 23 years, and one of the great authorities on southern finance, has been visiting at the home of C. F. Beers during the week.

"In the days of hard times and need for thrift mortgages are paid off. That is why we are in some ways in better shape now than we were with high priced cotton and extravagance," said Mr. Griffith Friday morning.

Conditions in South
"Every part of the country is intimately connected with the other and comes to prosperity and business. The south must be prosperous in order that other sections may be and other sections must be in good financial condition to make the south prosper. There is a 30 per cent reduction on cotton acreage this year in Mississippi. We have made the crop too, at a loss cost per acre than ever before. And we are going to have a large and fine crop. The boll weevil did less damage this year than heretofore owing to the hot weather. Men have borrowed less to make the crop because banks were unable to loan them money in some cases, and in others the planters could not obtain credit.

Peace and Prosperity
"I am glad the treaty has been signed with Germany. It will mean the opening up of the market for raw cotton. England has been unable to handle the amount of cotton we had expected and we must have a wider market. We would not have had such conditions as exist now had we signed the peace treaty six months after the armistice was signed. I am a democrat but I do not agree on the attitude towards the peace treaty by my party.

What became of all the money which the high prices demanded by cotton and the two great years of prosperity that came to the south?" was asked of Mr. Griffith.

Waste and Extravagance
"Well, you look around you and see the number of automobiles and you will not get one answer. Automobiles can be found in our country standing under most any shade near a cabin. Many of them cannot be run now because the owner is unable to buy gasoline. One man came to town and asked for the Ford garage. He was told by the man who was talking to him, a dealer in cars, that he ought to have a better car. 'Oh, I have a super-six,' he replied, 'but I want a small car to run around in.' We had the same craze for $18 silk shirts as you did up here. And we bought them. This is one of the reasons why the tenant farmers are poor in ready money. Waste and extravagance hit us just the same as it did you.

Farmer at South
"We need the readjustment we are going through. The farmer has been hit the hardest, was the first to feel the lessening prices and has to be a competitor when there will have to be a meeting of the prices of manufactured articles and the farm products and the wage scales. The south will come out of the condition suddenly confronted with a lesson well learned in economy."

Mr. Griffith will leave Saturday for Boston to visit his sister and then return to Vicksburg. He said, "The wonderful park on the battle ground is an attraction from the point of personal interest and historical value. It is a remarkable place and visitors are greatly impressed with the topography."

For twenty hours this food is baked—one reason you like it—another reason why it digests so easily.

One of the important things in connection with any cereal food is to have it thoroughly baked or cooked. For baking or cooking changes the starch of the grains.

Grape-Nuts is the longest baked of all cereal foods. It is scientifically baked at carefully regulated temperatures for 20 hours. This is one of the reasons why Grape-Nuts digests so easily; why it agrees with many people who cannot take any other form of cereal without producing fermentation.

A goodly part of Grape-Nuts is converted into dextrose, ready to be immediately assimilated by the system, and yield strength and energy. A further portion has partially undergone this change, while there remains sufficient unchanged cereal to strengthen the digestive organs. It is then in a condition to meet the various requirements of the digestive system.

If you want to eat a most strengthening and nourishing food, and one that will digest more readily, go to your grocer today and get a package of Grape-Nuts. Eat it with stewed fruit or as a cereal with milk or cream; or make it into an appetizing pudding.

Every member of the family will enjoy its delicious flavor and wholesomeness.

WHAT'S NEW AND ODD IN DAME FASHION'S NOTE BOOK

A peep into Dame Fashion's note book shows that there will be fads and odd styles aplenty during the coming season. That changeable woman will never run out of new ideas with which to attract the feminine interest. Here are just a few of fashion's newest fads.

At the left is a hat which looks like a lampshade and which is really of Spanish influence. It is edged with deep fringe and trimmed with a shell ornament which looks for all the world like a high Spanish comb.

In the center are milady's next slippers of the season. They are for pumps. It seems that it is to be a fur winter and so these broad-tail slippers have been designed for wear with fur frocks and wraps.

The huge fan at the right will be the new season's rival of the ostrich fan. It is fine black lace embroidered in sequins. It is an odd shape, being longer at one edge than the other, and will be very effective, although perhaps a bit cumbersome, when worn with evening frocks.

PEACHES, BEST IN YEARS, ON MARKET

Cantaloupes Also in Prime; Grapes are Late; Plums Good

With peaches in their prime, and the best that have been seen here for years, and with cantaloupes the best they will be, the fruit market in the local stores now shows an abundance of all sorts of fruits and housewives can easily make a tempting meal by preparing the different fruits to suit their demands.

Peaches are so large that no retailer can afford to sell them by the dozen. The bushel baskets of this fruit, with the red blush on each piece, make a tempting display in the stores. By the bushel, they sell for $4.50 to $4.90, by the case, $16.50 and in some places by the basket at 25 cents. This fruit is now at its best and will remain so for a week or so longer. Some grown cantaloupes of all sizes are now selling in abundance and will last until the first of September or a little later. They sell for 15, 18, and 20 cents a dozen. Those for eating now sell at 3 pounds for 25 cents and the seedling variety at 10 cents per pound.

Grapes are a little late this year and the home growers' Concorda have made their appearance before those shipped in. They are not selling by the large basket yet, the smaller peach baskets of them selling at 25 cents each. By the pound they cost 10 cents. The Delaware variety sells for 25 cents per basket also.

Plums are still good, selling for 65 cents a basket for the red ones or 5 pounds for 25 cents for the Danes. Apples are coming in now in more abundance and sell for 10 cents a pound for the Maidenblush and other eating varieties and 3 pounds for 25 cents for the cooking.

Watermelons have reached a low level of 25 cents each. It is not expected they will go lower.

Oranges remain the same from week to week, ranging according to size and variety from 40 to 65 cents per dozen. Lemons continue to drop, now costing 40 cents per dozen. Bananas have also been a low mark, being 15 cents per pound in the majority of the stores.

Potatoes are good. Nothing new has appeared in the

BIG REFORMS ARE MADE IN DANCING

No More "Tiddle" or "Shimmy" Says Mr. Hatch—Music is Faster

A season of the cleanest and most enjoyable dancing in 10 years is assured by the mode of dancing, the positions and the music popular in New York now, according to George L. Hatch, who with Mrs. Hatch, recently returned from the East, where they attended the annual national convention of dancing teachers, held at the Astor hotel, New York City, August 1-6.

"Dancing in the East at present is the cleanest and nicest that it has been in ten years," stated Mr. Hatch. "The whole trend of thought at the convention was that dancing this year will be a big improvement over recent years and will be clean and enjoyable. In the public parks, even, the 'tiddle' and 'shimmy' have gone, as has the jazz music. Of course, at the better class of dances, there is none of this either, but not until recently has good clean dancing appeared at all the parks, danced by everybody."

None of the tight positions will be seen with those who dance up-to-date, while the cheek-to-cheek dancing is entirely passed. "Tiddlers" Now "Hayseeds." "If anyone tiddled or danced cheek to cheek in New York now, he would be branded a 'hay seed' right away," stated Mr. Hatch, "and it will soon be that way here. The tendency towards straight positions in dancing, long steps and the elimination of the tiddle can be seen here now."

The main feature of the dancing music for the coming year will be promises to be more popular than ever, is that it is faster. While now, the tempo is 40 beats, when the new style of music becomes in vogue, it will be 45 beats. This, declared Mr. Hatch, has done away with the one step a good deal, as the fox-trot will now be almost as fast as the one-step was. Waltzes will also be faster, he said, and those who like to dance in the old-fashioned way will now be in their glory, as it is back to the old-fashioned time.

"The time being faster is what does away with the tiddling in some degree. Tiddling is impossible, as is the shimmy, when the music is so fast."

Other Changes in Style. "Another thing that is noticeable in the East, where the dancing styles are set, to be taken up later in the West, are the looser stances that are being taken in connection with the music being danced, so that the appearance of the dancing is not choppy or jerky. The women are taught at the classes there to take long strides which, when done properly, are very graceful."

Mr. Hatch took two courses of four weeks in ballet technique preceding the dancing teachers' convention. He and Mrs. Hatch motored to the East. Between 400 and 500 teachers attended.

The dancing classes conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Hatch for teaching of the new dance steps to adults, will open in January night. Children's classes and the high school dances will start in the early part of October, the date to be announced later.

PAY-UP, BY HEC IS DOCTOR'S PLEA

The hum-drum and monotonous "all those knowing themselves to be indebted to," etc., may all be very well to get action in Wisconsin but down in Indiana, they have to be original to get their bills paid. Witness this from the Warsaw (Ind.) Union, a daily newspaper:

Hop Right In and Settle. I want those owing me to hop right in and settle. By heck I've carried you now long over time. I need the money.

DR. W. A. MABLE. Maybe he will collect all his money anyway. Mrs. John B. Nichols, 1122 Milton avenue, thought the doc's notice amusing enough to clip while on a visit there recently.

URGES DEVELOPMENT OF LEADERS IN U. S.

Madison.—A convention of the leading men of all walks of life should be called at once to work out a program for the advancement of America to save it from further troubles some times, Edward F. Trefits, former representative of Horwath, Hoover, told the American city bureau summer school here Thursday night.

"What America needs today is leaders, men who are qualified to represent the people in the government," he said. "The present doctrine of Americanism is destructive because it has too much of the element of individualism, and is misdirected."

"Business has so engrossed the American people that they are forgetting their government. The country is not producing statesmen as she used to, as a result of the failure to realize that the primary duty is duty to the state."

BALCONY REMOVED

An old iron balcony on the south side of Thomas McKelvey's building, East Milwaukee street, for more than 25 years, was torn down Thursday, and the store front is being improved.

DARIEN

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Darien.—Mrs. Clara Chamberlain and Miss Maude Chamberlain spent the week end in Clinton at the home of E. A. Capen. Mrs. Helen Smith, Berkeley, Calif., came Saturday for a visit with Mrs. G. W. Putnam. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wright arrived Saturday from Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Helmer and family spent Sunday at Phantom Lake. Mr. and Mrs. B. H. ### OBITUARY

He was a resident of Janesville about 55 years ago, having left here to manage a large ranch in Texas later moving to California. He is survived by his wife and one daughter. Funeral was held there Aug. 12.

FULL RIGHTS OF VERSAILLES PACT

ratification as soon as possible after congress reconvenes late in October. Such a speedy ratification of the Versailles pact may be found necessary can then be negotiated through the ordinary diplomatic channels.

With the treaty signed and awaiting senate action there was a great deal of speculation here regarding the issuance of a possible peace declaration to carry into effect the declarations of the congressional peace resolution. No official word indicated whether the proclamation might be expected to precede ratification.

Another question which remained unanswered related to the probable duration of the American occupation of German territory. No direct mention is made in the treaty of the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine though there is a reaffirmation of the section of the Versailles treaty which permits the recent enemies of Germany to maintain forces on her border at her expense during the period allowed for payment of reparations.

Defines Responsibility

The text of the new treaty defines with unusual brevity the responsibilities of Germany and the rights of the United States as growing out of the war. The title of the United States to benefits described in detail in 10 of the 15 sections of the treaty of Versailles are reaffirmed; it is stated that "this government" shall not be bound by four of the 15 sections; and one section, that arranging Emperor Wilhelm and demanding trial of violators of international law, is not mentioned at all.

Neither is there a specific provision holding Germany responsible for the reparations section, in whose favoring clause Germany accepts responsibility "for causing all the loss and damage" resulting from the war.

Freedom of Action

While claiming all the privileges of the reparations section, as agreed at Versailles, the United States specifies in the new treaty that "she is not bound to participate" in the reparations commission unless she shall elect to do so. The same principle is made regarding all other international commissions created under the Versailles treaty.

MERCHANTS ELATED OVER DOLLAR DAY

Every Store Reports Great Business—Monthly Sales Suggested.

Stating that Dollar day, Thursday, was equally as big with them as last year when people had more money, R. M. Postwick & Sons, clothing, announced Friday that they believe the purchasing public is taking to the idea better than ever.

"Last year was the biggest Dollar day we ever had and Thursday was as good," it was stated by Mr. Postwick. "We had one lady in here who said she looks forward to Dollar day as a holiday and enjoys to come. When we have more concrete roads in the county, we shall have more people come in rain or shine. We had one customer from Geneva and that is fine. We had three extra clerks and they were all busy."

Suggesting Monthly Sales.

So great were their sales that they had the best Dollar day in their history, R. M. Woolworth company came out with the suggestion that Dollar Day be put on once a month. They said:

"If the merchants would put on these sales as regular monthly propositions and give as good bargains, they would have a wonderful trading center here. We never heard a complaint Thursday."

At Dierks-Drummond it was stated that their sales were ahead of a year ago.

"It was fine," said the Varsity Clothing company. "We had lots of people from out of town and we would have a wonderful trading center here. We never heard a complaint Thursday."

Win Aquatic Honors

Carlos Palmer, Earl Olson, Richard Pierson, and Clyde Lindquist passed the summer life saving test while Henry Schwager and Kenneth Melton passed the swim test.

In the aquatic meet Carlos Palmer was the individual star taking three first, 25 yard dash, 100 yard dash, and 500 yard dash. Henry Schwager took four first, 25 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 500 yard dash, and 1000 yard dash. Earl Olson took third in the 25 yard dash swim. Clyde Lindquist excelled in the track meet winning first in the broad jump, shot put, 100 yard dash and second in running high jump in class A.

Milwaukee Gets Shield

Carlos Palmer won first in high jump, shot put, 100 yard dash and 2nd in running broad jump in class A. Clyde Lindquist took first in the running broad jump and third in the 100 yard dash. Kenneth Melton won second in 100 dash and second in shot put.

If there had been three more boys to perform as creditably as did Palmer and Lindquist there would have been a chance for Janesville to keep the Baines trophy given for the five boys in any one period from one city who have the highest score in the five events of the summer sports. Milwaukee undoubtedly will win the shield.

"SHORT" THREATENS TO DESTROY TRUCK

Attention in the downtown district for a few minutes Friday morning was centered on the Ford truck used by the Jager-McKenzie Co. for transporting phonographs. A short circuit in the generator caused a blaze that threatened to destroy the car but it was put out without any damage.

BIG FARM BUREAU RALLY SEPTEMBER 5

La Follette Sought as Speaker at Labor Day Picnic in Plymouth.

Efforts are being made to secure United States Senator Robert M. La Follette as the speaker for a big farm bureau picnic and exposition in the town of Plymouth, Labor day, September 5. Although Senator La Follette is being constantly invited to make addresses and has several invitations for Labor day, the Plymouth committee is in hopes he will accept the Rock county request.

While the big farm picnic is under the auspices of the Plymouth Farm Bureau, it is given generally for all the farmers in Rock county, their wives and families. Last year, more than 2,000 attended.

The affair will be held in Inman's woods, about 10 miles southwest of Janesville, and south of Hanover. Two departments of agriculture speakers are already on the program, with the possibility of more speakers being secured within the next few days. George McGraw, Waukesha, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, will talk.

The exposition will be an all day affair, opening in the morning with an address by J. M. Fargo, state specialist of the bureau of animal husbandry, and Dr. A. J. Glass, will follow this. Two brothers will give a demonstration of feeding pigs economically on corn, tankage, barley and legume pastures. An address by County Agent B. T. Glass, will follow. Rev. Ramsath, Shopley, is also on the morning program.

Dr. Hely to Talk.

Following a picnic dinner at noon.

IRISH PARLIAMENT REJECTS PEACE OFFER

erful neighbor covets its territory for military or other advantages it is supposed to exist, there is an end to liberty. No longer can any small nation claim the right to separate existence. Holland and Denmark can be made subservient to Germany, Belgium to Germany or to France, Portugal to Spain.

"If the nations that have been forcibly annexed to an empire lose thereby their title to independence, they can be for them no re-birth to freedom."

"In Ireland's case, to speak of her seceding from a partnership she has not accepted, from an alliance which she has not undertaken to render, is fundamentally false, just as the claim to subordinate her independence to British strategy is fundamentally unjust. To neither can we, as representatives of the nation, lend countenance."

"If our refusal is to betray our nation's honor and the trust that has been placed in us to be made an issue of war by Great Britain, we deplore it. We are as conscious of our responsibility to the living as we are mindful of principle or of our obligations to the dead."

"We have not sought war nor do we seek war, but if war be made upon us, we must defend ourselves and shall do so, confident that whether our defense be successful or unsuccessful, no body of representative Irishmen or Irish women will ever propose to the nation the surrender of its birthright."

"We long to end the conflict between Great Britain and Ireland. If your government be determined to impose its will upon us by force and, antecedent to negotiations, to insist on conditions that involve surrender of our whole national position and make negotiation a mockery, the responsibility for the continuance of the conflict rests upon you."

"On the basis of the broad guiding principle of government by the consent of the governed, peace can be secured—a peace that will be just and honorable to all and free of concord and including to amity."

"To negotiate such a peace, the Dail Eireann is ready to appoint its representatives and, if your government accepts the principle proposed, to invest them with preliminary powers to meet and arrange with you for its application in detail."

DE VALERA RE-ELECTED REPUBLICAN PRESIDENT

Dublin.—Eamon De Valera on Friday was re-elected to his important post as leader of the Irish republicans, with the title of "president of the Irish republic." Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, was elected vice president and the other members of the Dail Eireann cabinet again were chosen to membership in the new government.

The Dail took this action at a public session at which Mr. De Valera read his reply to Premier Lloyd George, declaring this summed up the Dail's position on an Irish settlement, which he said is and must remain unchanged.

At the same session the Dail sanctioned loans of 500,000 pounds sterling in Ireland, $20,000,000 in America.

PASS MILESTONE IN HARDING REGIME

Treaty Disposed of; Tax Bill in Hands of Senate Committee.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.

Washington—Today marks a milestone of progress in the Harding administration. Congress has cleared up half the job of the special session and set the senate committee to work on a tax bill. President Harding and Secretary Hughes have jointly disposed of the troublesome treaty situation which for the last several years has been provocative of so much partisanship and has delayed domestic reconstruction.

The formula of the Harding administration for the making of peace with the Central Powers has undergone many shifts and changes, but the democrats are joining with the republicans in saying the treaty will be ratified if for no other reason than the country is sick and tired of controversy and is impatient to have a president of peace issued.

The formula of peace issued earlier in the year was a compromise of America's anomalous status in world politics. This assurance from all political factions that the treaty with Germany will be ratified means a greater moral effect to the signing of the pact than would otherwise obtain. Business men who have been waiting for a clearing up of relations with Germany will go ahead with their plans feeling confident that in this case at least the signing of a treaty is tantamount to ratification by the Senate.

Makes a Difference.

It makes all the difference in the world when the executive and legislative branches of a government are of the same political complexion. Indeed, this treaty was negotiated in fact by the democrats. The White House admits the United States government requested of Germany that secrecy be maintained. But the Republican majority stood with the administration in the demand for secrecy. It is difficult to criticize their political opponents for following a course pursued by the preceding Democratic administration. About the only persons who derive any satisfaction out of the turn of affairs are those who have been proclaiming the theory that both the Democrats and Republicans are very much the same in power and that the differences are mainly those of "ins" and "outs." But the truth is that Mr. Harding has been helped by the possession of a big majority in the Senate to do as he pleases. It is to be expected that the treaty will be passed without much difficulty. Although it seemed several weeks ago as if the administration control of Congress were lost, the developments of the last few days have belied such a statement.

House Was in Accord.

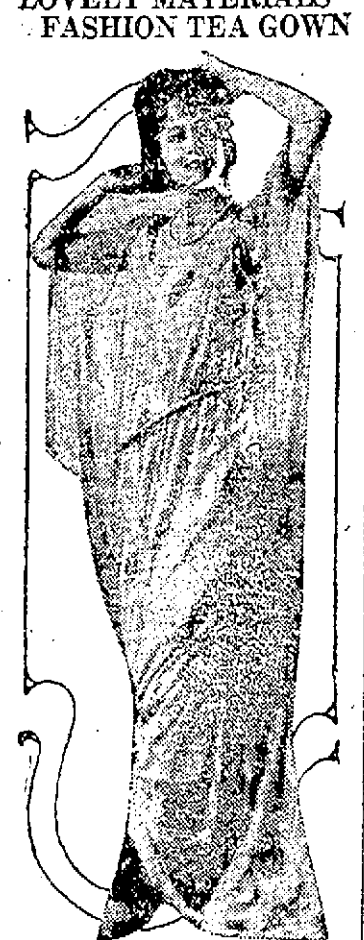

Representative Mondell, Republican house leader, pushed the various administration measures through the House in record time. The groups in the senate which threatened to interfere with the plan of Mr. Lodge, republican leader of the senate, for a month's recess, have summarily defeated. Whether it was the propelling power of President Harding or the realization on the part of the republican leaders that their mastery of the situation in congress was being tested, anyway the program of the administration has gone through and everybody is much happier that the machinery of the majority party is functioning smoothly. Even the democrats would prefer that the republicans pass their bills in order that the country may examine alleged defects and it is fully expected that the minority party will not obstruct the passage of either the tariff or tax bills when the recess is over next month.

Taxes or Tariff.

Congress can look back on the first half of the special session with a feeling of work well done because so many minor bills were disposed of but the truth is the leaders themselves will admit they should have given precedence to the tax bill over the tariff. The senate finance committee which has received both a tax and tariff bill from the house will next week give preference in its hearings to the revenue measure. This means that on the return of congress the tax bill will have right of way and that barring unforeseen delays it should be on the statute books not later than November 1st. The tariff bill will probably go over until the regular session of congress in December.

OIL EXPORTATIONS

IN SHARP DECREASE

(By Associated Press.)

Tampere.—Petroleum exportations from this port totaled, during the month of July, approximately 5,500,000 barrels, or one-fourth the amount shipped during the month of June, according to information given out by oil companies here. It was stated that August exportations will show a decrease over those of July, despite the fact that drilling is almost as active as early in the year. This is attributed to the low price of oil in the world's market coupled with a recent increase in Mexican tax on petroleum exports.

VETERAN SERVANTS

NUMEROUS IN FRANCE

Paris.—French housekeepers, like those of other countries, are complaining that there are no servants to be had these days and that those there are are good for very little and refuse to stay long in the same household.

Their pessimistic declarations are somewhat controverted by a list of 231 names that appears in the Official Journal of men and women (far more women than men) to whom silver-gilt and silver medals have been awarded by the Ministry of Labor, in recognition of their long services in the same household. Thirty years is the minimum time to qualify for one of these medals, which gives the wearer the right to decorate his or her button-hole with ribbon, red, white and blue in horizontal stripes.

CHAPTER VI
WINTHROP

The next morning came warm and full of sunlight, and the fragrant freshness that only the early season seems to possess. I could not be depressed on such a day.

There was the routine of the sanatorium to get through with. I attended to the patients, and then I rushed to the kitchen, where I found the nurse waiting for me. "You look well enough to be sent home now," he told me.

"No quite home," I answered. "I have a plan—I'm going to stay on here for the summer. You can have me under your supervision then, but I am going to live in the village."

As soon as I was permitted to go out I sent for my car and drove to the little white cottage, took out half of the real estate man and half of the nurse, accompanied by him. I was going through the place.

It could not have been better if it had been made for me. It was a two-story house with a small porch, one and a half stories high. It was of white painted boards with green shutters, and a porch with green shutters. There were benches, five feet square, with a brick fire place. This was half the house. On the other side, in front, completed the room; the kitchen, the dining room, and a bathroom. The house was furnished with sloping ceilings, and a tiny bathroom. ## BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna Kent Forbes

LESTROUS HAIR

Hair that is without lustre is either too dry or too oily. A coat of hair oil is necessary to give it lustre, but too much oil simply makes it sticky. Either condition shows that the hair is not in good health, and hair must be healthy to have any natural gloss.

The best way to make the hair glossy is to brush it, because the friction of the brush against the scalp is sufficient to stimulate the glands to secrete a healthy oil. Of course the hair must be clean to be glossy, and it probably will be if it is brushed enough, since the brush is cleaned and the scalp is cleaned.

And do not forget one little feature that I have talked about for a long time—that of polishing the hair by putting a big piece of absorbent cotton over the hair for the last 10 or 15 strokes. This absorbs much of the extra oil on the surface of hair which is too oily, and it wipes off dust and dirt. It will make the hair look beautifully glossy and clean.

There used to be great faith in the "hundred strokes a day" theory. I do not think the hair needs to be brushed a hundred times a day. A hundred strokes, as a matter of fact, is rather thing to the arms. The hair should be simply brushed at night enough to loosen it and air it, and to stimulate the scalp. The strokes should not be jerky, tearing at snarls in the hair, or hitting the scalp a blow as the bristles descend upon it. This hairbrushing method will do very much good. It is just as easy to pass the brush with an even swift stroke over the scalp and down the length of the hair.

Once in a great while dry looking hair can be made glossy by rubbing the scalp with a very little bit of oil. Afterward increase the color in your hair by massaging them with the tips of your fingers. This may also be done by clasping the lip between the first finger and the thumb and massaging the scalp in a circular motion. Any preparation that will remove freckles will be irritating to the skin if used for any length of time.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a stain on my dress from wagon grease. Will you please tell me how to get it off?

ANSWER: If the dress is a wash dress, apply lard to the spot the night before it is to be laundered. If it is silk, try gasoline.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 16 years of age and was writing to a boy 19. We loved each other dearly. After two years we broke up and didn't write to each other. He is very kind and lovable and speaks highly of everybody.

Now he speaks to me and wants me to be his intended. I don't know what to do. Should I give him my address and go with him as before?

SMILES.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the mother of four small children. My husband is very mean to me and also the children. He gambles and stays out late nights, leaving me alone to take care of the children.

I know he doesn't love me, because if he did he would treat me differently. I do all I can to make him happy, but it seems that he doesn't care. My parents want me to leave him and take the four children and stay with them.

Should I get a divorce? Kindly advise me what to do.

ANSWER: You haven't told me any of the particulars of your case. I would advise you to go to a lawyer and get his opinion.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a boy friend comes to see a girl for a dance or any other occasion, which is the proper way, to meet him at the gate her own dressmakers. Most of them I put away, but I did not want them. I bought a lot of big aprons made from creosote, things that covered me like a dress and decided to wear them all summer. My favorite books were the ones about catfish and the mail order catalogue.

And finally we were fixed. The cheap bargains I had taken down and I had put away all ornaments. One white muslin gown at the window and a few such touches.

"And you can still have a garden, and you can set out shrubs," Mrs. Taylor told me.

So we did this too, to the greater transformation of the house. In a time as all it was one of the proudest homes in the village.

And that marked the end of one sort of life and the beginning of another. For when the little house was done over, I was quite well, though not very strong yet. It would take months of a quiet life to bring back perfect health.

Aunt Mary consented to my idea. My father was so far away that the summer would be half way through before he could get another letter to me.

"And now I want to learn to cook," I told Mrs. Taylor.

"A splendid ambition! I wish all modern girls were as sensible as you are!" she approved. "I shall take great pleasure in teaching you."

"Then let's cook our own dinner here, Friday," I suggested. "That's Parker's evening out. I'll help and you can show me."

"But Friday's my girl's day out too. Come to my place—I have to get Winthrop's dinner."

"Bring him here!" I suggested.

"That's how simply that was established. That was the one thing that drew a sharp line between past and future for me. But I did not know it then—we never knew the things when they are happening to us."

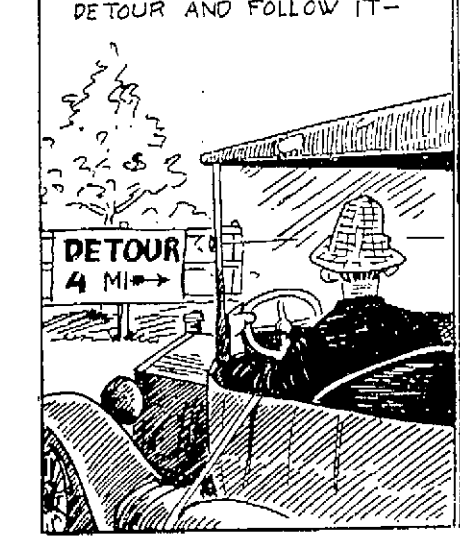

I had not met Winthrop. Taylor had seen him in the doorway of his house, in the brief instant I looked over to start my car. So when the bell rang and Mrs. Taylor and I were busy in my little kitchen, I had no idea what my guest would look like. I answered the bell, opening the screen door to the front porch and holding out my hand in welcome.

And Winthrop—Winthrop Taylor, who was soon to play such an enormous part in my life—entered. My hand and crossed my threshold for the first time! And I, not knowing the tremendous importance of this meeting, said simply and casually, "Welcome, you put your hat on the table. Dinner is now ready."

You Can Never Tell

Every city block has at least one, and often two or three, of these strange men. It went from bad to worse. Grandma could see into the girl's front room, and one afternoon, a few

"Young man," she cried, "Will you stop! Just a moment."

Down on her knees grandma dropped, and prayed a prayer of help for the unprotected girl—and a prayer of enlightenment for the people that he might quietly appear and drive away this arrogant and evil interloper.

Was the prayer answered? The good young man did not call until his usual evening hour—and then the ruthless stranger had already hopped in his car and away. Grandma rejoiced that the girl did not get in the mischief.

Grandma was not one of the old-fashioned hands-and-wait type. She was roused to a sense of duty. Never before had she prayed for a stranger neighbor. God extended the good about him as much as she could.

"I'm waiting for my wife," said the bold, bad man to an attractive young woman he met in a department store.

"Are you shopping?"

"No."

"Have you any particular place to go just now?"

"No."

"Couldn't we—er—become better acquainted?"

"We could, but I don't think it will be necessary if you behave yourself. I'm the store detective."

One day early last spring the manager of a small team lived up his mind and a school. "All you fellows who have been in vaudeville during the winter stop forward."

"Now, boys," he said to them, "I want you to bear in mind one thing. You are on the diamond, not on the stage now, so when you make a hit and the audience applauds it, don't stop to bow or your way to first base."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 17 years old and I have been going with a boy two years my senior. I have been going with him for a long time and I know all his friends and he knows my friends. One Sunday evening I was stopped by one of his friends and he wouldn't let me go until I promised him he could take me home. My friend saw the going home with him. He got angry and now he won't talk to me. Don't you think that he got jealous, soon? Do you think if he cured for me he would have got jealous soon?

Please advise me what I should do, or should I wait until he gets over his jealousy?

The boy should not have shown his jealousy. Since you are not engaged he has no claim on you. Both are so young that it would be very foolish to interfere seriously with each other. Try different friends.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I burned my neck very badly by putting mustard on and then kerosene oil for sore throat. I thought the mustard was good for the morning. I found my neck badly blistered. The skin peeled off and left my neck in an awful shape. I feel my neck will not heal in place. I use nothing but olive oil to heal it. What can I use in case it does leave brown streaks and spots?

WORRIED.

It will take time for the spots to disappear from your neck, but you have no cause to worry. In a month or two you will see that the skin has returned to its original color. Apply cold cream and stop worrying.

Prepare a pickle by squeezing enough vinegar to cover the cabbage with equal quantities of salt, allspice, cinnamon and black pepper; a cup of sugar to every gallon of vinegar and a teaspoon of celery seed to every pint.

Pack the cabbage in a stone jar. Boil the vinegar and spices five minutes and pour over hot. Cover and set away in a cool, dry place. It will be good in a month.

Then quarter and put over fire to cook.

FALL LIMING OF SOIL IS URGED BY COUNTY AGENT

This fall is an excellent time to apply limestone to get results for 1922, according to County Agent R. T. Glasco who is urging farmers to place orders now.

"Limestone can be applied with a manure spreader or with a limestone distributor," he says, "to the stubble land which has been plowed or to the corn field where corn has been cut for silage."

"In applying limestone, the essential thing to remember is that lime is easily soluble and should be applied to the top soil and not plowed under. It should be disked in with the upper two or three inches of surface soil and allowed to stay there as long as possible."

Limestone may be applied to spring seeding at this time. While it is preferable to work it into the soil, it can be used in this manner. It is better to apply it to the spring seeding if the land is sour than to let it go without limestone.

"Limestone has been used for more than 1,000 years. It has proven its worth in every test on sour land. At the Missouri Experiment Station one ton of limestone in a four year rotation produced crops in the value of $12.94."

In Rock county on the farm of Otto Oldenburg near Beloit, land having an application of limestone produced at the rate of 5.1 tons of green alfalfa per acre. The unlimed land produced 3.4 tons of green alfalfa per acre. This same result has been found in a large number of tests conducted in Rock county.

REMARKABLE CASE OF LOCAL LADY REVEALED

Feared Case Hopeless, But Has Gained 10 Pounds and Feels Years Younger, Since Taking Famous Tonic Trutona.

"I had suffered so terribly for years that I'd really given up all hopes of ever getting relief, but I've gained ten pounds in weight, sleep like a school girl and feel fully fifteen years younger, since taking this wonderful medicine Trutona," was the fairly remarkable statement of Mrs. W. J. Widemer, 232 South Franklin street, Janesville, to the Trutona Expert last week.

Mrs. Widemer's husband is employed at the Janesville Machine Works. They have resided here for the past twenty years.

"I suffered such dreadful gas formations in my stomach almost constantly," she continued. "I was continually belching up a greasy, slimy substance that would almost gag me to death. Actually I hadn't been in condition to sit down and eat a good hearty meal like any healthy person would, for the past twenty years. I was ashamed to go out anywhere, as I wouldn't be able to eat so many kinds of food. I didn't dare eat cabbage, fried meats or pie. I honestly didn't know I'd enjoyed a good night's sleep in fifteen years. I was either too nervous to sleep or suffering from pains in my stomach."

"Well, sir, I'd spent so much money without getting relief and it looked like nothing could help me, but I hadn't tried Trutona a week, when I noticed how I had improved. And today I know I can't possibly praise this medicine too highly. I eat just anything now, without suffering at all. I sleep as soundly as any school child these nights and get up feeling fine in the morning. Many of my friends have noticed my improvement and I always tell them about Trutona."

Mrs. Widemer's case is typical of the remarkable relief Trutona has brought to thousands of sufferers. Scores of local people at the PEOPLES DRUG STORE where it is being introduced and explained.

THE NEW TREATY WITH GERMANY

The text of the treaty with Germany is as follows:

"The United States of America and Germany:

"Considering that the United States, active in conjunction with its co-belligerents, entered into an armistice with Germany on Nov. 11, 1918, in order that a treaty of peace might be concluded;

"Considering that the treaty of Versailles was signed on June 28, 1919, and came into force according to the terms of its article 436, but has not been ratified by the United States;

"The Resolutions

"Considering that the congress of the United States passed a joint resolution, approved by the president on July 2, 1921, which reads in part as follows:

"Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives, that the state of war declared by the United States against Germany and the joint resolution of congress approved on April 6, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

"Section 2. That in making this declaration, and as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America, and its nationals, all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations, or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it, or they, have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed Nov. 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war of 1914-1918, or to which it is entitled by virtue of any act or acts of congress, or otherwise."

"Property Retained

"Section 5. All property of the imperial German government, or its successors, and of all German nationals which was, on April 6, 1917, in or under control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America or of any of its officers, agents, or employees, from any source or by any agency, whatsoever, and all property of the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its successors, and of all Austro-Hungarian nationals which was, on Dec. 7, 1917, in or under control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America or of any of its officers, agents, or employees, from any source or by any agency, whatsoever, shall be retained by the United States of America and no disposition thereof shall be made, except as shall have been heretofore or specifically hereafter provided by law, until such time as the imperial German government, or its successors, or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its successors, shall have respectively made suitable provision for the satisfaction of all claims against said governments respectively, of all persons, whatsoever, domiciled, who owe permanent allegiance to the United States of America and who have suffered, through the acts of the imperial German government, or its agents, or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its agents, since July 29, 1914, loss, damage, or injury to their persons or property, directly or indirectly, whether through the ownership of shares of stock in German, Austro-Hungarian, American, or other corporations, or in consequence of hostilities or of any operations of war, or otherwise, and also shall have granted to persons owing permanent allegiance to the United States of America most favored nation treatment, whether the same be national or otherwise, in all matters affecting residence, business, profession, navigation, commerce, and industrial property rights, and until the imperial German government and the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its successors, shall have respectively confirmed to the United States of America all fines, forfeitures, penalties, and seizures imposed or made by the United States of America during the war, whether in respect to the property of the imperial German government, or German nationals, or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or Austro-Hungarian nationals, and shall have waived any and all pecuniary claims against the United States of America."

"Restore Friendly Relations

"Being desirous of restoring the friendly relations existing between the two nations prior to the outbreak of war, and having for that purpose appointed their plenipotentiaries, the president of the United States of America, Ellis Loring Doolittle, commissioner of the United States to Germany, and the president of the German empire, Dr. Friedrich Rosen, minister of foreign affairs, who, having communicated their full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

"Article 1

"Germany undertakes to accord to the United States and the United States shall have and enjoy, all the rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages specified in the aforesaid joint resolution of the congress of the United States of July 2, 1921, including all the rights and advantages stipulated for the benefit of the United States in the treaty of Versailles, which the United States shall fully enjoy notwithstanding the fact that such treaty has not been ratified by the United States.

"Article 2

"With a view to defining more particularly the obligations of Germany under the aforesaid article with respect to certain provisions in the treaty of Versailles, it is understood and agreed between the high contracting parties:

"1. That the rights and advantages stipulated in that treaty for the benefit of the United States which it is intended the United States shall have and enjoy are those contained in section 1 of part 4, and parts 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15. The United States in availing itself of the rights and advantages stipulated in the provisions of that treaty mentioned in this paragraph, will do so in a manner consistent with the rights accorded to Germany under such provisions.

"2. That the United States shall not be bound by the provisions of part 1 of that treaty, nor by any provisions of that treaty including those mentioned in paragraph 1 of this article, which relates to the government of the league of nations, nor shall the United States be bound by any action taken by the league of nations or by the council or by the assembly thereof, unless the United States shall expressly give its assent to such action.

"3. That the United States assumes no obligations under or with respect to the portions of part 2, part 3, sections 2 to 3, inclusive, of part 4, and part 13 of that treaty.

"4. That, while the United States is privileged to participate in the reparations commission according to the terms of part 8 of that treaty, and in any other commission established under the treaty or under any agreement supplemental thereto, the United States is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it shall elect to do so.

"5. That the periods of time to which reference is made in article 140 of the treaty of Versailles, shall run, with respect to any act or election on the part of the United States from the date of the coming into force of the present treaty.

"Article 3

"The present treaty shall be ratified in accordance with the constitutional forms of the high contracting parties and shall take effect immediately on the exchange of ratifications which shall take place as soon as possible at Berlin. In witness whereof, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty and have hereunto affixed their seals.

"Done in duplicate in Berlin, this twenty-fifth day of August, 1921."

Turkish Nationalists Firm in Determination for Real Independence

[By Associated Press.]

ANGORA, Asia Minor.—The Kemalist government, with the aid of its army, is determined to solve the Near Eastern problems itself; a fact to which the allied western powers are said to be blind.

This is the chief impression which The Associated Press correspondent received after a trip of hundreds of miles by sea and land from effect, befuddled Constantinople to the clear atmosphere of this little city, situated on a wide plateau, where the Nationalists have pitched their political tents.

The stranger, putting his foot on the soil of Nationalist Anatolia, feels a new air. It is not a privilege extended to all and sundry; but once road faith has been established, the doors of primitive hospitality are opened wide, and the stranger may do what he will or go where he pleases.

New Purpose Felt

Re-vitalizing the interior after two years, when the Nationalist government was in the hands of the Turkish people at Sivas, the correspondent found the same gray, desolate, treeless distances, the same tolling minarets, the same old villages and towns. But, the air is charged with a new purpose.

The correspondent saw Mustafa Kemal Pasha, Halide Hanum, the woman Nationalist leader, and other personalities with whom he talked at length two years ago. Today, they make the same declarations as then; they are fighting for their homeland and for national existence; they will have no more and nothing less.

They are close students of American history; they compare their war to America's struggle for independence. "What boots poverty or ill-clad soldiery, if the hour is right and the cause is just," they ask.

Have Paid Price

The correspondent put the question bluntly to Mustafa Kemal: to Yusuf Kemal Bey, his minister for foreign affairs and to other leaders: "Are you not unfortunates, to be organized yourselves for the purpose of beating a just peace after you were whipped in the great war?"

The answer came: "No. We have given up Syria and Mesopotamia. We have left these former Ottoman countries to their own destinies. What further penalty should we pay for our defeat?"

It is the intention of the Nationalist Turks to live or die on the issue of national independence and the integrity of the soil inhabited by Turks with no interference from foreign powers. As regards Bolshevism, it is apparent that the Turks are securing arms and a certain amount of assistance from that direction; yet they are as afraid of Bolshevism as western Europe is. The Turks do not desire any political foreign control from any direction.

"Movement to Live"

The intention is to drive out the Greeks and then to retake Constantinople, make it their commercial capital and begin rebuilding Turkey on the basis of good roads, education, and export trade.

Today they are refusing to issue Nationalist paper money, for fear of debasing the old currency.

The Turks declare that the Nationalist movement, which has historically been going on for a half century but has been smothered by the greed of sultans and pashas, is destined to live.

SOUTHERN WOMAN INHERITED HER BUSINESS LINE

Geline MacDonald Bowman (Mrs. J. K.) of Richmond, Va., head of the woman's department of the Merchants' National bank of that city, which was the first bank in the state of Virginia to open women's department, thinks she may have inherited her talent for the banking business. Her great-grandfather Joseph Winter, of New York, and Alexander Hamilton's most intimate friend, was one of the two men who signed the first issue of United States currency. His son was a financier of New York and Georgia.

BIG BADGER FAIR ON NEXT MONDAY

300,000 Persons is Goal for Attendance; Features are Numerous

Wisconsin's great exposition will open next Monday for six days and six nights, showing the greatest representation of the state's great industries and resources.

There is every indication that the attendance this year, weather permitting, will exceed 300,000 people. In fact the goal has been set at 300,000 which is more than 100,000 over a year ago.

Unusual and numerous are the features for the fair. There will be special days for the children opening on Monday, followed by Tuesday for automobiles and interurban day. The stage turns out on Wednesday to do honor to the state's great industries and labor force in the fair celebration. The livestock comes in for an inning on Friday, and the fair terminates with tractor and aviation day on Saturday. During the entire six days and nights of the fair there will be band concerts, amusement programs in front of the grandstand composed of 25 circus and vaudeville acts, during which aviators whose planes will be ablaze with light, and concluding with the great fireworks spectacle of "Montezuma, or the Last Days of the Aztecs."

Many Improvements

Many improvements have been made. There is a $10,000 green mill; the grand stand has been enlarged to include 5,000 additional people; the stock pavilion has been transformed into an emporium of beauty, at a cost of $15,000, now recognized as the largest show amphitheatre in America. The electric arches and the torches will abound; nearly one million electric lights will turn night into day. It will be Wisconsin's greatest show.

Horses of every description, with a nation attached to them of $1,000,000—Percherons, Clydesdales, Belgians, and heavy draft teams—Shetland ponies by hundreds. Premiums in this department alone will total more than $25,000. The Percheron Society of America is putting up special stalls this year at the fair.

The horses show will see society of Milwaukee occupying 200 seats around the amphitheatre—twice as many entries as last year. Prizes for jockeys' turnouts, runabout ponies, tandems, four-in-hands, saddle horses, high school horses, hunters and jumpers, hackneys, etc. The fair takes cognizance of stable decorations and has put up a prize of $100.

The cattle barn will house 1,500 cattle with a valuation of more than $1,500,000. Famous herds of the state will be represented, and scores of exhibitors have come from other states. Premiums total more than $51,000. Shorthorns, Herefords, Holsteins, Guernseys, Jerseys and other breeds. There will be milk testing contests and prizes for strength of milk testing results. And to wind up, there will be county cattle exhibits, special prizes of $2,000.

Every variety of sheep will be shown, including the fine wool and mutton breeds, and here again Wisconsin will be in competition with the world. Pigs and swine are not overlooked, and more than 11,000 will be distributed through the week.

In the poultry sheds one will see all varieties of chickens, waterfowl, and turkeys. More than $2,000 will be distributed to the poultry crowd. The sum of $425 will be apportioned off among rabbit farmers, more than $800 for the pigeon breeders.

Exhibits of Crops

There will be exhibits of farm crops from every county of the state. The Department of Agriculture will distribute more than $3,000 for fruits, plants, flowers, and culinary vegetables.

There will be a special display of bees and beekeepers. The fair will exhibit of its kind ever held at any state fair.

The dairy building will house cheese and butter, and the Wisconsin Butter and Cheese Association will act in advisory capacity. Six thousand dollars will be apportioned off here in prizes.

Exhibits of the state offer special prizes, and also the same plan is carried through to determine who is the best cheese-maker.

There is a department devoted to machinery and vehicles. Producers of the state will find in the tractor and machinery display at the fair the greatest opportunity to examine, first hand, tractors and machinery of which they are proud. The department for boys and girls, under the supervision of T. L. Bewick, Madison, is one of the growing departments of the fair. Here the younger generation is permitted to exhibit any agricultural or home craft material they have personally grown or produced. A girls' and boys' camp is pitched in the grove of the fair grounds. Wild camps will be under the direction of the state Y. M. C. A., with O. C. Hartman in charge. A large tent serves as a dining room, where meals are served at a table in family style.

Women's Department

There is a special department for women's work which includes such activities as needlework, china painting, and a culinary division. There is a special department known as the Home Economics Extension, at which every woman in the state is privileged to come to ask questions related to the home.

Then there is a department labeled "Education." More than $1,000 will be distributed here. This embraces contests in spelling, arithmetic, and penmanship. The big contest will be held in the Educational building Wednesday morning, Aug. 31. The person having the highest average in these three contests will be declared the state winner.

The judging in the stock pavilion will be as follows:

NEW CHIEF OF THE CHILDREN'S BUREAU

Miss Grace Abbott.

President Harding has appointed Miss Grace Abbott to succeed Miss Julia Lathrop as chief of the children's bureau of the department of labor. Miss Abbott, who has served nearly three years in the children's bureau as director of the child labor division, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Abbott of Grand Island, Neb.

THIS TOBACCO IS KING OF 'EM ALL

Orfordville—H. N. Hogshead exhibited a stalk of tobacco taken promiscuously from his patch, a day or two since, which measured five feet seven inches from base of stalk to tip of leaf. The plant contained twenty-two leaves, several of which were two feet seven inches long and seventeen inches wide. Miss Peterson had several measuring five feet—in height, with leaves eighteen inches wide and nearly three feet long, and Ivar Braaten exhibited some leaves three feet long and more than eighteen inches wide. When an average sized man was at work in the patch, it was impossible to see more than his hat above the top of the plants.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS IS URGED

Merging Rural Districts in State Would Solve Problem, Assertion.

Madison.—Consolidation of rural school districts is urgently needed in Wisconsin to solve the serious problem of public instruction declared in the biennial report to the governor. "It is high time for this state to take steps to facilitate consolidation," the report says. A general survey of each county made by a county board of education, which would then formulate a proposed consolidation plan of the districts, is suggested.

Survey Imperative.—With such a survey it would perhaps be possible to place in consolidated districts in the state, three-fourths of the people now living in rural districts. The report continues: "Such a plan would permit in all such areas the erection of school buildings conforming to the latest and most scientific standards of school architecture; it would make possible instruction in both regular and academic, and in special or vocational subjects by adequately trained teachers; it would permit the children to have normal social contacts with one another in the class room, on the playground and in all school activities which cannot be had in the old one room school."

Schoolhouse Ancient.—The condition of the one teacher rural school today in Wisconsin is not much different in many respects from what it was 30 years ago. The usual building is a little longer than it is wide, has no basement, is provided with a stone foundation containing two or more "cat holes" and is some 40 to 70 years old.

In place of the mature man or woman who taught during the winter months, we find a young girl, possessing greater scholarship than the earlier teachers, but lacking in judgment and in the general knowledge of life and business needed properly to guide the young boys and girls.

Need Better Equipment.—We cannot believe that the opportunity for rural school children will be materially improved within the next decade unless there is provided a better school building, more adequate equipment and well trained teachers. "Unless education in the country districts is to be made as common and as effective as it is in Wisconsin cities, we cannot expect the more intelligent parents to remain there. The school is one of the most, if not the most, determining factor in the choice and retention of a home."

DECLARE OAT STOCK FOOD IS INFERIOR
(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—The feed and fertilizers division of the state department of agriculture warns farmers against oat stock food now being sold on the market. It declares that the product has low value.

A large quantity of oat feed or oat mill by-products has recently appeared on the Wisconsin feed market, and is bought at a price which is attractive to consumers unacquainted with its value, the department says.

"Accordingly the department advises buyers that the product has low feed value and that it cannot be used as a substitute for grain, as claimed by some sellers."

Grade Teachers in Wisconsin Plentiful

Madison.—Teachers for all graded schools are plentiful in Wisconsin, according to C. J. Anderson, assistant superintendent of public instruction, announced. All of the schools in the state were able to secure suitable instructors for the coming year, he says. Salaries are remaining at their former scale from $90 to $150 a month, according to Mr. Anderson, who says that only in a few localities is there a tendency to try for a lowering of the wage.

Hundreds of thousands of Wisconsin school children will start their year September 6, when practically all of the city schools open.

THIS SPORTS SUIT IS REALLY SMART FOR DRESS WEAR

This is called a sports suit by the designer, but it will doubtless grace many more matinees and afternoon teas than it will sporting events. The cost of orange is made on Russian blouse lines and in hand embroidered in orange and silver. The skirt is of heavy, soft black material with orange stripes at eight-inch intervals. The collar and cuffs of the jacket are also made of the black of the skirt.
